Between these two covers are recorded many moments to remember of the class of '56. Many of these moments were spent in the preparation of the "Spindle". It is now yours to enjoy, and we hope it will do more than serve this purpose.

The "Spindle" is the result of combined efforts and cooperation of the faculty and the student body whom we sincerely wish to thank, because, if it were not for their sacrifices, the publication of this book would not be possible.

We would especially like to thank the members of the "Spindle" staff, and above all our faculty advisor, Miss Ryan.

We hope this book will serve as a reference to recall the many humorous and pleasant moments of our days on Kirk Street.

Class Ode—1956

TUNE—Halls of Ivy

As we leave these humble portals
To a greater life beyond,
The memories of these happy years
Will form a stronger bond.

Oh we'll think of carefree moments
Of friendships we make here,
Of growing seeds of knowledge,
Of strength in conquering fear.

As our lifelong quest's achieved
And our candle's dwindling low,
We'll look to these our tender years,
As years we were aglow.

ANNE J. TURCOTTE

RAYMOND A. SULLIVAN
Headmaster

Impelled by a common hope for years of successful living for all the graduates of the class of 1956, we of the faculty have attempted to contribute a firm foundation to the fabric which you all form in the future. In times of reflective memory your real possession of happy experiences in Lowell High School will be pleasantly heightened as you recall your days here. May happy reflection strengthen the discipline, the ambition, the progress, the nobility, the worth of your individual patterns of life. We have enjoyed contributing to and establishing happy experiences for you. Our sincere desire is that your recollection of our school will flourish and ever become more valuable and precious to you.

We are sure that many memorable moments have been spent by the Lowell High School Band since the date of the first organization on January 1, 1924. The present students have not only gained in musical talent since joining the band, but now fully appreciate the meaning of co-operation, friendship and dependability. The musicians, clad in neat Red and Gray uniforms, feel that Mr. William J. Notini, their director, symbolizes not only excellence in music and leadership, but represents the height of personal friendliness. He has ably directed the group in spectacular performances at the football games, assemblies, pep rallies, civic affairs, parades, music festivals, and primarily at the annual concert given in March. This year's graduates of the Band will long remember the joint concerts with an out-of-state band, the many luncheons attended, annual Band Dances, outings, and especially a week-end trip to White Plains and New York City in the fall.

Sitting: Josephine Kennedy, Mr. Reardon, Barbara Falante. Standing: Maryrita Fadden, Sandra Dow, Mary Lou Donohoe, Shirley McCallum, Brenda Joy.

At the beginning of the school year Mr. Francis Reardon appoints girls from his homeroom to work in the bookroom. These girls spend their spare hours in the bookroom keeping records of English reading and grammar books which are taken out. They also take inventory of all the English books which are in use throughout the high school.

Telephone Operators

The cheerful voices heard over the Lowell High School telephone wires belong to these girls at the switchboard.

The staff consists of senior girls, who were selected in the junior year because of their outstanding capability for their position.

Once again as spring rolls around, the sound of the baseball is heard from the annex to Alumni field. As the team shapes up, with a great deal of help from last year's veterans, everybody is hoping for a pennant year in the Greater Boston League under the artful eye of Coach Stanley Stoklosa. This year's team is captained by Nobbie Ferreira.

Under the reins of Coach Al Lenzi for a second year, the Lowell High School hoop squad showed a marked improvement. However, the record of six wins and thirteen losses does not truly represent the fighting spirit of the team, as many of the games were lost by a small margin after a hard fight. One event which we were all glad to see was the clinching of the City Championship by twice defeating Keith Academy. Some of the outstanding players along with Capt. John Cavanaugh were Jerry Kelley, George Rawnsley, Roger Jarek, Tom Reilly, Bill Vrettas, Mike Netishen, Charlie Pelley, and Nick Mitides.

Agile movements, smiling faces, and a loyal spirit could only describe the Lowell High School Cheerleaders who, in rain or shine, sleet or snow, always lead the crowd in the traditional cheers. Under the expert coaching of Miss Bawita Lawler, the girls, after many days of hard practice, performed the tricks and movements with great precision. The Cheerleaders of '56 will always shine in our minds as one of the most colorful and lively groups on the football field.

THE ALMEIDA'S

In Action

Something to be remembered are the displays put on by the Baton Twirlers. Under the capable direction of Wilfrid T. Boulger, the girls captivate their audiences by their precision drills. Besides entertaining at the football games, they are also seen strutting in their smart gold and white uniforms on Field Day and Memorial Day. During the past year some of the girls have been awarded numerous prizes in various competitive exams, and have made a fine showing in the twirling circuits.

One of the more eagerly awaited days is the day on which the head leaders for the following year are chosen. The Baton Twirlers have an important and unforgettable part of our high school days.

"Remarkable Incident At Carson Corners"

Each year Miss Mary Casey organizes a group of students known as the Speakers Bureau. These students are responsible for a special radio program put on in the interest of the Lowell Tuberculosis Council in order to urge the people of Lowell to purchase Christmas Seals, and to take X-rays annually.

The members also have the opportunity of speaking before the Middlesex Women's Club and before various assemblies in honor of men and women who have added so much to our human progress. Fine talks are presented by individuals of this group.

By dedicating themselves to such worthy causes, the members of the Speakers Bureau have earned an honored place among the many finer organizations of our school.

Commercial Supply Department

Front: Joan Foster, Diana Sponhaltz, Eleanor Perry, Athena Ivos. Rear: Carolyn Gacek, Nancy Guziejka, Caroline Gacek.

The girls on the staff spend their spare periods in the Commercial Supply Office of Mr. Edward Sullivan. Each girl does a fine job of keeping records of the books and supplies that are distributed to the high school.

Room 100

Sitting: Arlene Linton and Frances Donohoe. Standing: Patricia Hackett and Patricia St. John.

Room 100 is probably the most popular room in Lowell High School. Here, students may purchase locker keys, obtain tickets, and regain lost articles. The staff, which is under the direction of Mr. Emmett Harris, gives helpful and friendly attention to all who seek its services.

Student Library Staff

The Student Library Staff is made up of both boys and girls. These pupils, who serve one period a day in the library, have not only proved most helpful as assistants, but they have also learned a great deal about library work. Staff members learn how to check books in and out, and how to return books to their proper places on the shelves. They deliver the attendance slips to the study halls, and become familiar with the use of the Card Catalog and the Reference Section. Perhaps most important of all, they have the opportunity of getting acquainted with good books.

Front: Rosemary Cambria, Brendan Ashe, Alice Beaudry. Rear: James Tavares, Charles Mitsakos.

National Honor Society

"The Flaming Torch held high above the Bridge of Life to light the way" is the symbol of the principal purposes and high ideals of the most honored scholastic attainment for any student. Members of the National Honor Society have given evidence that they can expand in Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

All those Juniors who have grades of at least 90%, within the highest 5% of their class, and those Seniors within the highest 15% of their class, are united in membership under the capable direction of Mr. Charles D. Foley. Previously organized in 1927 under the auspices of Miss Helen Choate, who wrote the initial ritual, The National Honor Society still arches above all other Scholastic Achievements.

Home Room Representatives

Senior Home Room Representatives are definitely an asset to class activities, because without their help, very little could be accomplished. Elected by their respective homerooms, they started right away on the first project—selling tickets to the school show. They also collected class dues and supervised the distribution of caps and gowns.

The Stamp Club

Seated: Martha Pilato, Vice-President; Patricia Jelley, Treasurer; Walter Collins, President; Patricia Muldoon, Secretary. Standing: Richard Joyce, Bertha Langlois, Dorothy Bettencourt, Martin Levin, Louise Harzigian, Judith Johnson, Stella Martakos, Mr. Alamanzor L. Dupuis.

Under the guidance of Mr. Alamanzor L. Dupuis, the Stamp Club has flourished for sixteen years. It was originally organized to allow pupils to meet each month and exchange stamps. Many of the members have assembled sizable collections from all over the world, in this way beginning a life-long profitable hobby.

Front: Patricia Brown, Neal Cortell, Edward Sokolowski, Barbara Falante, Joseph McCarthy, Peter Brennan.
Rear: Francis D. Reardon, faculty advisor; Dorothy Danas, Jay McHale, William McDonald, Michael Sokolowski, Herbert Zarkin, Herbert Kazer, Mary Buckjune, and Richard Bridgeford.

Exactly 100 years ago in 1856 a group of students, interested in debate and oratory formed a club to "encourage debating at the Lowell High School". Several years later the society was named in honor of one of its eminent founders—the late Frederick T. Greenhalge, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Over the years the members of the club, trained in original oratory, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, and debating, have annexed many honors in debates throughout the entire country, and have also conducted many successful tournaments. This year the meetings were in the form of mock trials, forums, debates, and speech clinics.

The club is under the capable guidance of Mr. Francis D. Reardon, Faculty Advisor; Edward Sokolowski, President; Barbara Falante, Second Vice-President; Peter Brennan, Secretary; Joseph McCarthy, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Girls who act as Floormasters' Secretaries are chosen in their Junior year for this job by Miss Mary V. Lyons. An opportunity for this position is open to any girl in the Secretarial Course. While working in the offices of the floormasters, the girls are taught secretarial methods which prepare them for future work.

Elevator Operators

A bang on the door or a scratch on the glass is heard, and up comes the elevator to assist some teacher, or student recovering from an illness. This is the scene that takes place every day at the elevator. These efficient Boy Officers, chosen by Captain James Murray, are selected for their courtesy, merit and efficiency.

Girl Officers

One of the biggest moments to remember is admission to the Lowell High School Girl Officers. For over fifty years Junior girls have approached "tryouts" with hearts and heads high. Seventy-two of these Junior girls are selected to lead in their Senior year the underclass girls. They are marked by three impartial judges on posture, marching, mass drill, clubs, and dance.

The big event of the year was the Girl Officers' Ball held on January 27. Girl Officers also contribute their time and ability to numerous school and civic affairs.

The Girl Officers will always be remembered in their blue and gold uniforms, flashing swords, and pointed toes. To Miss Bawita Lawler, faculty advisor, the Girl Officers offer a vote of thanks for all her time, patience, and heartfelt understanding.

Through the European Culture Club the students of this school have been able to increase their knowledge of European countries. On the first Monday of each month, films of these countries were shown and interesting talks given by members of the faculty and friends of high school who have visited Europe.

Under the able leadership of its advisor and founder, Miss Bertha Desmarais, the European Culture Club has enjoyed its eighth successful year.

The Girls' Glee Club, newly organized this year, is one of our most active musical groups. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Drescher, the Glee Club meets every Monday afternoon for a full rehearsal. The seventy girls, including all classes from freshmen to seniors, performed at many school functions and were well received by the audience. Easter saw the Glee Club sing with two of the school's outstanding singers, Peter Eliades and Carol Dowrey; besides singing their own interpretations of Easter music. This year the Glee Club auditioned at the Music Festival in Watertown on May fifth. This high honor is bestowed only upon the better of the state's musical groups.

GERTRUDE F. O'BRIEN
Director of Music

A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Gertrude F. O'Brien, is a fine example of the musical culture found at Lowell High School. The choir performs without music, as the name, A Cappella infers. Members of the choir meet every Thursday afternoon to practice many beautiful selections.

This large group under the direction of Mrs. Fred Drescher, provides much of the entertainment in various assemblies and civic groups of the city.

It also takes part in the annual state music festival, which is this year being held at Watertown. The selections sung are "The Heavens are Telling", "Red Wing", and "Trees".

The members of it are the best sophomore, junior and senior voices, chosen by Mrs. Drescher. This year the group is led by President, Peter Eliades, Vice-President, Mattie Crayton, Secretary, Colette Houle; and Treasurer, Denise Normandin.

The long and honorable reputation of the Cadet Officers of Lowell High School has been upheld since 1880 when the organization originated. Presently under the capable supervision of Captain James F. Murray, the regiment is fulfilling its purpose, which is to teach the boys discipline and respect their superiors as well as to inject observation of military protocol into the officers.

Chosen by the written examination of sergeants, those boys who receive the highest ranks become captains. From that group, the colonel, lieutenant-colonel, and majors are chosen by competitive drill.

As in the past, the Boy Officers of 1956 have many moments to be proud of and remember. Field Day and Memorial Day are two outstanding events when these loyal officers parade through the streets of Lowell winning pride and respect from people of Lowell.

Personnel

Responsible for the fine work that is done in mimeographing tests, office forms, daily absentee lists and notices, schedules, and typing letters, are the capable girls in the Personnel Department.

This department was established thirty-two years ago in 1924, and since then it has aided in preparing girls for their future in the business world.

The girls were chosen in their Junior year for their outstanding work by Miss Mary V. Lyons, who is the head of the Personnel Department.

For sixty-nine years the school publication has been known as the "Review". Originally a small newspaper, later a magazine, the paper has used the present format for the past fifteen years.

Annually, from over one hundred applications, Miss Anna Ryan and members of the English Department select the staff on the basis of scholarship and journalistic aptitude. With headquarters in Home Room 118, the staff prepares the nine issues that come out each year.

Thanks to the leadership of Peter Eliades, editor-in-chief; the hard-working business editors, James King and Herbert Kazer; the diligent secretaries, Marguerite Coyle, Sandra Carville, and Shirley Paquette, and the faithful efforts of the editors, "The Review" has had another successful year.

ANTHONY'S ANECDOTES

Dear Doc

I am a senior boy and I have just the sweetest girl you can imagine. I've dated her a lot and really go for her in a great way. Recently I hit myself with a pencil and made a noticeable impression on my neck. Needless to say, my girl has got quite a bit of razzing from her friends. How can I make them stop?

A lieut-colonel

Dear Sir

Don't be so worried, just be more careful on dates and in school. Red marks generally go away.

The Science Club

An important segment of the extra-curricular life at the high school is the Science Club under the capable supervision of Mr. James F. Conway.

Every other week throughout the entire school year the club meets in Room 310 at the close of school on Fridays, at which time scientific demonstrations are presented either by members of the club or by persons engaged in different phases of science. Among the most important activities are the annual Christmas party, the highly successful Science Fair in April, and the presentation of science books to the school library on Honor Day.

Guiding the club through another successful year were President, Thomas Kane; Vice-President, Herbert Kazer; Secretary, Joseph McCarthy; Treasurer, Louis Wajda; and Program Chairman, Arthur Whitty.

Lunchroom

We'll always recall the fine food obtained during our lunch periods in the familiar cafeteria. All of this well-prepared food would never have reached our table without the efficient aid of the boys and girls chosen each year for our lunchroom staff by Mr. Leary. We also shouldn't forget that behind the counters are the women who make the appetizing meals possible. These excellent dieticians, under the supervision of Mrs. Daisy Meunier, are kept busy preparing lunches for over two thousand students each day.
